David Mullin Elected New Sr. President

CHIACCHIERI '54; BOLSTER '55, WIN

After a week of hectic campaigning, climaxed by the voting in Austin Hall on May 7, the students elected their leaders for the coming '52-'53 academic year. With a fine showing of democratic idealism as almost 100% turnout of voters was seen.

While the votes were being cast, the air on campus was full of campaign slogans, as even loudspeakers and megaphones sang the praises of the respective candidates. The polls themselves were a bee-hive of activity as the traditional last-minute handshakes and warm wishes were distributed.

WEATHER - WINDY AND WET

The weather, heavy windy and wet, kept to a minimum the usual party parades. The turnout itself, however, proved the campus wide interest in the elections.

SENIOR RESULTS

Junior David Mullin of Newark, N.J., will head the Senior class as a result of his win in directing the Clover Party. Mullin, a member of the debating team, is also Business Mgr. of The MICHAELMAN.

Herb Fuller, a Junior from Springfield, Massachusetts, was elected President of the Student Council last Monday night when the new Council Members took over. Fuller replaces Tom Shields, outgoing president and graduating senior.

At the final meeting of the Council for the '51-'52 academic year, the following men were also elected:

MURPHY, VICE PRESIDENT

William Doyle, also of Worcester, Mass. and the class of '53, was elected Recording Secretary, while Ken Kirby, Holden, Mass. and the class of '53 was elected Corresponding Secretary. Doyle is President of the Mission Crusade while Kirby represents the Biology Club as its President.

Students Amend SC Constitution

At the recent class elections, the two Referenda for amendments to the Constitution of the Student Council were almost unanimously accepted.

ARTICLE II, SECTION 5

Article II, section 5 of the By-Laws of St. Michael's College Student Council Constitution which says: " Any finances realized by any class, club or organization shall be returned to Student Council funds and recorded in favor that particular class, club or organization," shall be amended to read: "---but a particular class, club or organization may be authorized, by a 2/3 majority vote of the Student Council, to retain any finances it has realized, provided that the end towards which the funds are directed is deemed worthy by the said Student Council."

ARTICLE V, SECTION 4

Article V, section 4 of the By-Laws of St. Michael's College Student Council Constitution which says that: " The president of the Council shall be chosen from the senior class representatives to the Council exclusive of the senior class president, " shall be amended to read: " The President of the Student Council shall be chosen from the senior representatives to the Council exclusive of the senior class president, and if a club president is elected to the Student Council presidency, the vice-president of that club shall become president of that club."

To Quell a Rumor

Students are advised to discount all rumors concerning the size of next fall's freshman class. We are still accepting qualified candidates and we expect an entering freshman class of about the same size as last fall.

"All Glory To Her Name"

With this issue, we close the pages to another volume of the MICHAELMAN. With this issue also we say farewell to the class of 1952, the class which in September of 1948 climbed that last mile to the Hill top from Winooski to take an active part in the beginning of the permanent building program of St. Michael's. They saw it as it was then, and since that time have seen the dreams of several generations of Michaelmen become a reality.

With a backbone of two brick buildings and about 22 wooden structures on the campus proper, plans were begun for a campus that would comprise some 15 Georgian type brick buildings, with an extensive athletic plant and Field House located on the northwestern corner of the campus.

The next year, or May 15, 1949, the first of these buildings was dedicated "Rev. Louis M. Cheray, SSE, Science Hall," in memory of one of the founders of the College.

A year later, on May 29-30, 1950, Bishop Ryan Hall and the new Athletic plant were dedicated asa huge Homecoming gathering saw the Purple footballers roll over arch-rival U.V.M. 27-6.

To list every other history-making event that occured over this four year span, or to list the numerous social or other extra curricula functions which have been instituted under the fine leaders which this class has produced would take this entire issue. Suffice it to say that this has been a great class, a history making class, one which will be long remembered for its great work and patience with our administration in helping St. Michael's to grow.

Before we wish each and every one of you "Good Luck" in your chosen business or profession, however, permit us if we might, to quote a quatrain from a recent issue of our paper:

"The long wait ends.
The brow dew dries
Our hushed tones cease
Replaced by lusty cries."

Mediate for a moment on the deep meaning of this stanza.

The new-born babe, the pardoned criminal, or even the college graduate could be the object of it.

The cries of the infant, the joy of the acquitted, or even the praise of the alumnus, could be the subject.

Last Sunday we celebrated Mother's Day and all this month we honor the Mother of God. As commercialized as the former may be or as acandalized as might the latter be, we must never forget their deeper meeting.

Our own mothers gave us of their very lives and Our Blessed Mother gave us the meaning of LIFE itself. What a debt we owe to them!

Now as college graduates, the class of 1952 owes also another debt. A debt to another "mother", a "fostering mother", an "Alma Mater", St. Michael's.

Like our physical and spiritual mothers, however, it isn't merely a material debt of which we speak, but rather one of understanding and recognition. At this time we should reflect on what has been given to each of us.

To Our Blessed Mother we owe the birth of Her Divine Son, and our constant love.

To our physical mothers we owe our physical lives, our basic spiritual and religious principles and, above all, our understanding of the nature of love itself.

To our Alma Mater we owe the advancement of all of these, and our support that she may continue to foster them in the future.

"A friend so staunch and true....all glory to her name."

Council Is Praised At Final Meeting

At the last meeting of the '51-'52 Student Council held on Monday, May 5, it was officially announced that due to the Student Council's efforts, the price of coffee in the Snack Bar had been returned to $.05.

President Thomas Shields was requested by the College Business Mgr., Mr. John Buchan to make it clear that it wasn't because of the mass meeting held in the dining hall that the food in the dining hall had been improved, nor was it because of this same meeting that the prices in the Snack Bar had been reduced, but it was due to the efforts of the Council.

In speaking for Mr. Buchan, Shields said that since the Council sponsored its campus-wide food poll earlier in the year that steps had been planned for the improvement of dining hall meals, and not because of the mass meeting had the steps been taken.

Shields, in speaking for Mr. Buchan, again stated that because of the Council's efforts at the recent class nominations meetings and because of the circular about the Snack Bar which the Council sponsored, that the price of coffee had been reduced.

Mr. Buchan said that because of the Council's fine consideration of the matter, prices had been reduced, and if the attempt at improving student consideration of the Snack Bar met with approval and improvement of Student Body action, other prices which have risen since Easter will also be reduced.

At this meeting also, several resolutions were introduced to be handed down to the incoming Council for consideration.

Open Letter from the Council

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
THE AIMS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE STUDENT COUNCIL:

The present Student Council met for the first time on May 12, 1951, and on that occasion elected Tom Shields as its President, John Provenzano as Vice-President, Joe Crowley as Recording Secretary, Bill Hindle as Corresponding Secretary and Joe Furey as Treasurer. Under the leadership of President Shields the Council launched itself into the 1951 - 1952 academic year.

The Council's first action was to create a 'Summer Activities Committee' to direct, in the absence of a competent Student Council, the student activities of the Summer Session. An attempt by this committee to control the fund made up of the $5.00 Activity Fee charged each student was unsuccessful.

An Administration ruling denying to the Summer Session students the right to have cars on the campus was arbitrated and the Dean of Men granted reasonable concessions.

ADJOURN FOR SUMMER

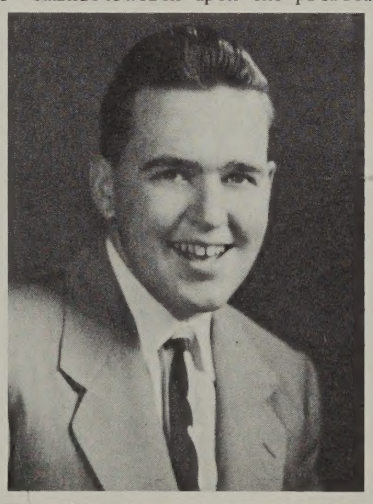
The Council adjourned for the summer vacation, to reconvene September 24, 1951.

At the first meeting of the new year, John Roth was successful in having committees formed to investigate (1) the reduction of Junior Class privileges, and (2) the denial to students other than Seniors permission to have automobiles on campus. In the first instance he was successful in obtaining an extension to 11:00 p.m., on week nights and to 12:30 a.m., on Saturday nights.

A committee, on meeting with the Advisory Council with regards to the loss of student property by the Department of Buildings and Grounds, was advised that the students concerned should write a letter to the President of the College requesting compensation. The Advisory Council saw no reason for a denial of such a request.

DINING HALL INVESTIGATION

President Shields appointed a group to investigate the circumstances surrounding conditions existing in the Dining Hall. Conclusions drawn from a meeting with the Business Manager were that the school is anxious to improve conditions so long as it can operate within its present financial means. Mr. Buchan suggested that the Council bring the matter up regularly and in that way focus the attention of the Administration upon the problem.



Tom Shields, outgoing S.C. President

At a special meeting, the Council elected 12 Seniors to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." The results were as follows:

Bill Kenney	Ralph Diehl
John Provenzano	Jack Terenzini
Tom Shields	Bob White
Jerry Finn	Frank Simas
Bob Sullivan	Dan Jennings
Bill Hindle	Jim McKown

At the request of Fr. Lyons, Bill Cooke and Jack Terenzini were appointed to conduct a Food Poll and to compile the results. The results were forwarded to Fr. Lyons, and he promised consideration of the committee's recommendations.

RYAN HALL PHONES

Joe Furey and Bill Hindle consulted with the Telephone Co. concerning the installation of phones on the 2nd and 4th floors of Ryan Hall, and with the Postal Service in the hope of having a Mail Box more conveniently located in front of the Dining Hall. Both agencies promised full cooperation but said it was the School's prerogative to act on such matters. Fr. Lyons assured the committee that both matters would be taken care of.

Received a letter from the University of Idaho, the "Bloodiest Campus in the United States," challenging St. Michael's and all other schools to better their 38.8% student donations. More later.

In order to allow such organizations as the Mission Crusade, which retains any profits it realizes from its activities, to operate within the Council's Constitution, Bill Cooke and Bill Liberator proposed the following amendment to Article II, sec. 5 of the By-Laws, --- or organization. 'But a particular class, club, or organization may be authorized by a 2/3 majority vote of the Student Council, to retain any finances it has realized, providing the end toward which the funds are to be directed is deemed worthy by the said Student Council.' This Amendment was passed by the Council but does not become permanent until voted upon by the student body in the May elections.

BLOOD DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

Bob Sullivan, the Senior Class President, was appointed to head the Campus Blood Drive. He was later pleased to report that the students had made St. Michael's the "Bloodiest Campus in the United States" by donating 391 1/2 pints through the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit. This represented over a 51% turnout.

Dick Gleason, appointed by President Shields to produce shows for the Burlington U.S.O., reported that the first show was well received and that they had been invited to return.

The AFROTC was found acceptable to the Council as an independent organization on the campus scene.

FIRST VETO

Due to the abuses received by Fr. Stankiewicz's 'Cigar-Box' Loan Fund and its complete depletion the Council moved that the students in arrears to this fund be notified that, if payments are not forthcoming soon, a list of the delinquents will be published in The Michaelman, and if this method proves unsatisfactory, the Treasurer will be advised to attach the students $25.00 deposit for the sum owed.

The Student Council experienced its first veto at the hands of its Moderator, Fr. Tining, after passing on a motion to write a letter to the Government requesting reconsideration of their decision to take over the premises of Champlain College.

Bill Doyle was directed to confer with the Administration concerning the possibility of listing important activity-dates in the school catalogue, he later reported that this could and would be done.

ELECTIONS - MAY 7

It was decided to hold the General Elections on Wednesday, May 7, and conduct the last meeting of this Council on May 9.

Complaints concerning the recent rise in prices in the Snack Bar was discussed with Mr. Buchan and the situation defined as necessary in order to prevent running the Campus Room at a loss. However, Mr. Buchan promised to reduce the price of coffee to 5 cents as soon as the Council took a constructive step toward the education of those students who do not pay for the things they purchase.

FAVORS MINOR SPORTS

The Council went on record as favoring the integration of the minor sports of golf, tennis, sailing and skiing into the activities program and appointed a committee to determine the best mechanism of establishing these sports.

The following amendment has been proposed to Article V, sec. 4, to widen the field of choice for the election of the Student Council President. It reads as follows:

'The President of the Student Council shall be chosen from among the Senior Representatives to the Council, exclusive of the Senior Class President. If a Club President is elected to the Student Council Presidency, the Vice-President of the Club shall be the Club's Representative to the Council.'

THOMAS SHIELDS, PRESIDENT

N.B. Routine matters of Dance committees, budgets, etc., have been ommitted from this report.

Sat. Jazz Concert Steals Star Spot

As the saying goes, " All good things must come to an end ". Likewise, the Senior Weekend came to an and, but what an ending!

There was no doubt in anyone's mind, as the last couple filed from the Memorial Auditorium last Saturday evening, that this year's Jazz concert was one of, if not THE, greatest ever.

With Rex Stewart and his quartet in the spotlight and with Mal Douglas and Emil Richards' quartet filling in the " gaps ", the Senior Weekend committee started what is hoped will be an annual event.

In the past, our own Arabian Knights have played at the various Jazz concerts and cavalcades on campus, but this was the first time that an attempt had been made to bring a " name " Jazz aggregation to the area. The committee did not stop with ONE group however, they brought THREE, and all really knocked themselves out before the evening was over.

With Stewart himself leading the way with his " talking trumpet ", these, veteran performers played everything from the danceable ballad to the hottest Be-bop and Dixieland ever heard anywhere.

Although Richards, playing the vibes in the George Shearing style, had the " dreamers" " in the mood ". Steward won the hearts of all present with his own arrangements of " Boy Meets Horn " and " When the Saints Come Marching In".

The show was staged for the benefit of the Memorial Chapel Drive.

In Conclusion

Another Junior Prom is history. In the eyes of many, this Prom was the greatest Social success in the history of the College. But before we finally file the weekend deep into our hearts and memory books, it is only fitting that we remember those who contributed so greatly to its success.

To the entire committee, one and all, who gave so generously of their time and efforts. Especially to those who worked so long and hard during the final week in decorating the Memorial Auditorium so magnificently.....

To Very Rev. Fr. Lyons for his fine cooperation and assistance.....

To Fr. Tining, the Student Council and the entire Senior class for its assistance, inspiration and guidance.....

To the chaperones, guests and all others who by their attendance made this the great social success which it was...

To these and the many more who helped in any way, we offer a sincere " Thank You."

The directors.

First Living Rosary Said Here May 8

All Catholics, during the month of May, turn towards Our Blessed Mother with special prayers and ceremonies. To add to these special ceremonies on the St. Michael's College Campus, some 68 graduating seniors each took turns in leading over 300, spectators in the first living rosary to be formed here, on last Thursday, May 8th.

The Living Rosary was said on the Athletic Field under ideal weather conditions on the feast of St. Michael the Archangel.

SENIORS DIRECT

The procession to the field was formed at about 8:15 Thursday evening and at 8:30 P.M. the first decade was begun, with responses given by all.

Under the direction of seniors Martin Donahue, Richard Welch, and Daniel Jennings, one by one, the white vigil lights, representing each " Hail Mary " which was said, and the red vigil lights representing the " Glorias " that are said between decades, were lighted, until a string of lights in the form of a rosary shone forth in the darkness. In the stands, over 300 students and friends of the College knelt, reverently praying for the needs of our world today.

Wanted!!!

FEAST OF ST. MICHAEL

Since this day was the feast of the apparition of St. Michael the Archangel, our patron saint, the rosary was offered for the intentions of the Fathers of St. Edmund, who conduct the College, and for world peace. Each light or bead of the rosary represented our growing hope in Mary's intercession.

This school holiday was begun with a Solemn High M being sung by Very Rev. Da P. Lyons, SSE, presiden St. Michael's, in Austin at 9 A.M.

St. Mike's HILLTOPICS

by FRAN HOBEN

Following this issue a depleted treasury demands that we call a halt to MICHAELMAN issues for this year, and consequently, this will be our last chance to scan the the athletic picture here above Winooski's waters. Perhaps scanning isn't the correct term in this case because we do not intend to look back over the year's ups and downs, or give out with any kind of review. Rather, since this is our last edition, we think it more apropos to consider the future and what is concerned with the future.

In keeping with this we can see no more important an issue in the athletic program than the proposed adaptation by the Student Council of five new, so-called " lesser " sports. These sports, namely, golf, tennis , skiing, sailing and hockey would be dependant upon the Council for financial support. They have been popular among the student body at one time or another during the school's history but are not included in the present program for one reason or another, mostly of a financial nature. Therefore various members of the SAC, in apprehending an increase of the present enrollment in the years to come, and with an eye toward recognizing the ability of students in other than the triumverate of major sports, decided to see just what could be done toward making the proposal a reality.

As all of us know and understand the school is wholeheartedly in favor of adapting such a plan, but the heavy expense incurred in meeting the requirements of other interests, makes it impossible to sustain the energetic program everyone would like. Therefore the the students have been left to themselves in forming various new clubs, as for example the sailing team, which at present operates largely with the assistance of the Outing Club. A similar situation exists with the recently organized golf team.

In this instance, a group of Seniors seeking to avoid the necessity of having a more or less pick-up or private golf team representing the whole school, asked for and received compensation from the Council itself. The result was that over thirty candidates (thirty-six for the punctual) showed up at the Burlington Country Club for try-outs for the six berths available. This is the most important aspect of the whole affair - the enthusiasm with which the idea was accepted by the students. It showed they want more competitive sports, even if the problem of financing them rests with their various clubs.

SMC teams have demonstrated clearly in the past that they can hold their own in such endeavors as hockey and boating; and it wasn't too long ago that they gave a good account of themselves on the tennis courts too. It would be a shame to let good talent go unrewarded when it could bring limitless prestige to St. Michael's, and furthur the extra-curricular program as well.

Athletic Director Jacobs, who is but human with no miraculous power, can do little in the formation of these " lesser sports ", has promised his help whenever possible in assisting the arrangements of schedules. This in itself is invaluable since it is far easier to break in a new glove with an experienced hand than with one of uncertain ability. So for the time being at least, the school will do its best to go along with the idea in this way.

It is unfortunate that more time does not remain in the current term so that more constructive action could be taken. As it is, the SAC after assisting the golfers has put aside the matter until September, when they can give it due consideration without the pressing issues of graduation, at all. And so HILLTOPICS would like to urge the recently elected officers and members who will guide student activities next year to give the plan a careful looking into, and, with the interests of the school being benefited, as they would now seem to be, to adopt such an athletic increase and sustain it to the ability of the Council.

NO CARS "ON" NEXT YEAR

Golfers Open Wednesday

The Burlington Country Club was the scene of preliminary try-outs for the golf team last week. Over thirty aspirants teed-off in thirty-six holes of qualifying play with the low six gaining berths on the squad. Individual scores were not available.

The six who turned in the lowest totals are, Cliff Doughty, Artie Moran, Bob McKenzie, Art Kiernan, Joe O'Leary and Freddie Hannan. This is a completely new array since all members of last year's informal squad were lost through graduation or the service.

Prof. Giarelli Has Articles Published

Prof. Arnold Gianelli of the St. Michael's College faculty will have two articles published in the near future.

Modern Language Journal will publish his study of " Subjunctive and Dichotomy ", according to a letter this week from the editors.

Associate professor of economics at St. Michael's, Gianelli has long been interested in language studies as well.

Texts that maintain that the subjunctive is the mood of doubt are in error, Gianelli holds.

Sentences like: " I caught the ball before it bounced " would put " bounced " into the subjunctive, not only in English, but also in French, Spanish and Italian.

Yet there is no doubt involved there, the professor holds. The ball does not bounce.

Grammarians today, he says, have accepted the statement that they are dealing with the mood of doubt. The reason for this he writes, is that grammarians no longer have a solid foundation in logic as was formerly required.

But when I aim for better taste,

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference— and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky . . . for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better...proved best-made of all five principal brands. VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Even a student who at present is probably thousands of miles from St. Michael's received a vote of confidence as a nominee for the Student Council in the Senior elections.

John Roth who left school in February to go back to sea until next September was last heard from while in South America. He had been active in many campus clubs and at the time of his temporary withdrawal was a member of the Council, having been elected last year. Herbert Fuller newly-elected Council president from Springfield, Mass. replaced him at the start of the second semester.

Sunday and Monday June 1 and 2, the reunion will take the form of the regular graduation ceremonies.

K&K Keeps Busy

The Knights &Knaves dramatic Society of St. Michael's faced a tough schedule this past week as they prepared to stage their greatest production to date, "Cyrano de Bergerac".

On Monday evening several members of the "Cyrano" cast played in the Trinity College production of the rioutous comedy, "Jenny Kissed me" On the following night, in St. Johnsbury, Vt., the entire cast traveled to stage their 12th and final performance of Leo Brady's "Bro. Orchid".

Ed Ruest, who played Le Bret in "Cyrano", played the lead in the Trinity show, while Howard Lancour, who played Cyrano himself, in the Society's major production,had the title role in "Orchid". "Bro. Orchid" was staged at St. Joseph's academy in St. Johnsbury.

On Saturday, May 10, the cast played a dress, line rehearsal of "Cyrano" before a group of teaching sisters from the Burlington area.

The Society closed out this busy week with its two sellout performancee of the Edmund Rostand play on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, May 14-15 in the playhouse.

Back your new council.

SOPHS. HAVE TWO NEW S.C. REPS.

Because of the fact that Robert Bolster was reelected by his classmates to the presidency, next year, the Sophomore class will have two new Council representatives instead of the usual one. Bolster will, under the Council Constitution, retain his seat as the holdover class president, besides gaining a seat through his recent election. Therefore, so that the Sophomore class will not lose a seat, the two new members were elected at the electorial board meeting Monday.

"Cyrano" Plays For 2 Packed Houses

"Cyrano de Bergerac" got one of its rare performances this week in Austin Hall. The Edmund Rostand play about the cavalier with the heart of gold and the nose of lead was given in the St. Michael's Playhouse last Wednesday and Thursday, May 14 and 15.

The lights in the playhouse dimmed, there was a short interlude of authentic Sixteenth century music, and then the Knights and Knaves Dramatic Society drew back the curtains on their biggest production to date. Under the able direction of Rev. Edward Tining. SSE, the play starred Howard Lancour of Springfield, Mass. In the title role, and Miss Alberta Hogan of Trinity College and Burlington as Roxane.

LITTLE FELLOW, BIG NOSE

The story of the play is one which will live as long as there are lovers and actors. It centers around Cyrano-Savinien-Hercule de Bergerac, a little fellow with a big nose, a heart filled with love, and an arm made long by three feet of flashing steel.

Lancour, a veteran actor in college and summer theatre work, was superb. The character which he played can be summed up as the "best friend and the bravest soul alive." The task of developing this difficult role was not an easy one, and Lancour had to go deep into his resourses of experience to perfect it, but if the acceptance of the part by the sellout audience is any criterion for judgement, he did finally perfect it. The weeks of grueling rehearsals truly were rewarding.

SUPERB PERFORMANCE

At the start of the play, Cyrano tells of his love for the beautiful and charming Roxane to his good friend Le Bret, however, later Roxane herself professes her love for Christian to Cyrano, Christian also confides in Cyrano of his love for the young lady. The complications that ensue go to make the climax of the play, and the name of Cyrano, immortal, and it was done here superbly.

Holding down the feminine lead of Roxane was a young lady whose dramatic abilities had been successfully tested on the stage of Austin Hall. Miss Hogan, of Trinity College, gave her last appearance in a major production with the Knights and Knaves, as Olivia in the riotous hit two seasons ago, "Twelfth Night." A combination of beauty and talent left little to be desired in her presentation of her world-famous role.

Because of the scope of the play, a big apron was built in the Playhouse in front of the regular stage.

30 ACTIVE IN CAST

The entire before-the-curtain cast was comprised of some 30 members, besides those numerous other persons who helped in making the props, costumes and sundrie other items that go to make up a major production as this was.

Those students who played some of the bigger roles in the staging of this great success were: Tom Geno as Rageneau, the poetical pastrycook; Ed Ruest as Le Bret; George Filteau as De Guiche; Don McGael as the handsome Christian, and Les Weiand as Valvert. From Trinity College came Maureen King as Soubrette; Marie Dignam as Duenna; Jeanne Boucher, Joy Hope, Bobby Murphy and Mary Drew.

A sellout house for both performances was the greatest reward experienced by the cast.

CHECK FOR CHAPEL

At the same time of the latter ceremony, the Corps also presented a check to the St. Michael's Memorial Chapel fund.

The directive of this order read:

"Although a small material token, a greater spiritual feeling accompanies this donation; a desire that this donation be a symbol of the beginning of a role we shall play in successfully creating a part of St. Michael's College as St. Michael's College has successfully molded a part of us."

Old Clothes Drive

Each year at this time, the Mission Crusade sponsors a drive for old clothes to be sent to the Southern Mission. Dick O'Brien is in charge of the drive this year and representatives are in every hall ready to receive donations.

All clothes that you have grown out of, or have worn out will be accepted. Even those old white bucks. All articles received will be forwarded, at once, to Fr. Nelson Ziter, SSE, at his Boys' Club in Selma, Alabama.

Closed For The Year

With this issue of the MICHAELMAN, we close our publication for the 1951-1952 academic year.

Thanks to the fine support received from both the student body and the faculty and administration we have been able - or tried - to make this year's volume an interesting and accurate source of student information.

We have tried to present both sides of any issue to our readers and have also tried to be as liberal as possible in the presentation of student opinion.

However, if any question seemed to be consistantly overlooked, it was simply that we felt better results could have been obtained through other channels. In your student council for example. Although our paper of necessity operated throughout the year more or less on a "tight" budget, we have, nevertheless, tried to remain a NEWS-paper, and we hope we have satisfied the majority of our readers.

At this time also, we wish to thank our Very Rev. president, Daniel P. Lyons, SSE for his active interest and advice for The MICHAELMAN. Our special thanks also go to Mr. John Donoghue, Public Relations Director of the College, and moderator of this newspaper. Without Mr. Donoghue's untiring professional and moral guidance, The MICHAELMAN, in many instances never would have been published.

Above all, we wish to thank the entire student body for the way in which it has accepted the paper and we hope that in the future, The MICHAELMAN will gain as much student support as it has in the past.

Also we wish, once again, to announce that if any student wishes to join the staff for the coming year, or if he might have any ideas on further improvements for the publication, or if he may have any other constructive criticisms, that he would let us know of them.

Sincerely,

The Editors....
